

Throughout this project, I had so many ups and downs. I struggled so much with it but it was very well worth the effort. I learnt so much about blockchains and created a simple transaction blockchain that works with mining, using the references I cited. I got stuck several times which was nerveracking, but overall, I had a lot of fun and this was a great learning experience. I put my mind behind the grading like you always told me to and took things at face value and actually tried to learn without caring about grading, and I think I did really really well, and I am glad no matter the outcome. Thank you so much, professor :).
